

Professional Pastoral Supervisor. – Dr Andrew Ball.

Andrew is now semi-retired after serving for over 35 years in Churches of Christ in Australia. At the end of 2021 he finished as denominational leader for NSW/ACT and these days works with a variety of networks helping them explore their vitality and health. He has been a senior pastor, youth pastor, key facilitator, lecturer, and thought leader helping churches re-frame their mission in the context of both biblical literacy and contextual challenges.

Andrew lives on the NSW Southcoast, and does the majority of his professional supervision via Zoom. He has been mentoring/supervising for over a decade and enjoys engaging proactively with key individuals on the frontline of ministry as they explore their ministry practice. The image below describes his predominant focus – seeking to be a ‘safe harbour’ for leaders to check in and explore important factors impacting their ministries.

He is also a keen photographer, bushwalker, fisherman and strategic collaborator. He also serves on a local Aged Care board to offer support as a director of a charity. He relates to Nowra Church of Christ and remains an ordained, endorsed minister with Churches of Christ in NSW/Act.
