

Janine Steele, Professional Pastoral Supervisor

I specialise in helping ministry leaders thrive for the sake of those they serve. I bring over 30 years experience in ordained ministry in local churches, hospital chaplaincy, and aged care chaplaincy within the Anglican Church in Sydney.

Through professional supervision, I support individuals in reflecting on their experiences to enhance their practice, establish healthy boundaries, find their authentic voice, manage conflicts more effectively, and help prevent burnout. I hold qualifications in theology and ministry, Clinical Pastoral Education, and professional supervision. I am a Member of the Australasian Association of Supervision.

Appointments are usually online, though in-person sessions are available in Ryde and Ashfield (both in Sydney).
