

Christine McGowan

My passion and heart is to journey alongside others, enabling, encouraging and equipping them to grow and become all they were created to be (Eph 4.12). Supervision provides a space for me to share and invest in the life of others by offering a safe space to reflect on ministry and gain new perspectives, support and encouragement.

Over the past 15 years I have gained insight and experience into a broad range of ministry situations. I am an ordained Baptist minister and have served in small & larger multi-congregation churches, in roles that include sole, associate & lead pastor. I also have experience in Supervision, Mentoring, facilitating Retreat Groups, working in cross-cultural settings as well as training in Consultancy, Church Health and a background in nursing.

I am married to Rob (a retired firefighter) and we have 4 adult children and 2 granddaughters. When I am not supervising, you will find me in the garden, at the beach, on my bike or enjoying a cuppa with a friend.
