

Janine Steele, Professional Supervisor
(Pastoral)

I help people in ministry do their work better by learning through reflecting on their experience.

I can help you keep yourself in good shape so that those you serve do well. I can help you establish good boundaries, find your voice, and manage conflicts better. You will learn from your mistakes and your successes. Supervision may also help you to avoid burnout, anxiety and depression.

I bring 30 years of ordained ministry experience in parish, hospital chaplaincy and aged care chaplaincy in the Anglican church in Sydney. I hold qualifications in theology, ministry, Clinical Pastoral Education, and professional supervision. I am an Associate Member of the Australasian Association of Supervision.

Appointments are available in Ryde or Ashfield (both in Sydney) or online.
