PROFILE

Stanley obtained his Graduate Certificate in Professional Supervision and Graduate Certificate in Counselling from Morling College in Sydney. Stanley is also a seasoned Coach with over 15 years experience at home and abroad. He is accredited with the International Coaching Federation. His time in South East Asia with a Christian mission organisation as Head of Member Care for Member Care and Training oversaw 160 members (families, couples and singles). Ensuring their emotional, spiritual, mental, and physical wellness in its complex transitional stages. He also spearheaded regular leadership training for their team leaders that included the disciplines needed for cohesive and productive teams in cross cultural contexts. Stan's accreditation and familiarity with DISC, a preferred behavioural assessment, greatly added to better understanding of ongoing personal and professional development for these teams and their leaders.

Stanley brings a passion to see individuals and teams flourish in their giftedness and skills to God's glory. He believes his combination of skills in coaching, counselling and pastoral supervision provide objectivity and confidentiality for important conversations that help go the distance in staying relevant and focussed. Stanley values the whole person and endeavours to capture a whole-of-life approach to his service offerings in acknowledging that we are each uniquely created by our Creator God.

Stanley Believes no-one knows themselves better than themselves. Stanley helps by asking reflective questions and making observations to help the reflection process. Through this process a person or group is able to consider actions and outcomes that match beliefs and values. These times of engagement could be either transformative or informative.

Stanley strives to help people think and talk about their purpose in life, so that they can make the best decision for themselves. His knowledge of working cross-culturally, helps him understand the contexts that are presented.
