

Vision Wall

1. The Vision Wall is a constructed mobile wall where everyone is encouraged to write, tape or sticky note:
 - a) Their sense of what God is saying to the church about its future
 - b) A prayer for the future of the church
 - c) What they are hearing from God in sermons, their own personal times with God, through others, in home groups, in worship and in discussion with others before or after church
 - d) Important things happening in the community (news articles, notes, observations)
 - e) Bible passages that have been particularly significant
 - f) Personal reflections
 - g) Prophetic words to the church
2. Have a couple of handy people create a two-sided mobile wall out of three or four office dividers fixed together on castors. The exterior needs to be light particle board or a surface which can be painted over (usually white), then written on with marker pens, have notes taped to or even articles, papers and notes pinned on it.
3. The wall is wheeled into the tea and coffee area after church each Sunday. It is also kept somewhere available during the week, where people can see it, contribute to it, read it regularly and use it as a prompt for prayer.
4. Keep the wall open for several month and encourage people to read, contribute and to interact, leaving comments, “Likes”, questions and reflections.
5. Ask elders and leaders in particular to take the time to walk around the wall each Sunday and read the growing list of comments watching for significant themes, contributions and ideas which are emerging.
6. Photograph the final wall and use it to contribute to the sense of vision emerging in the church.
